4-H Day Presentation Hints

Tips on Appearance and Talking

- Dress appropriately and comfortably. Be well groomed.
- Stand on both feet instead of rocking back and forth or leaning on the table.
- Be friendly – SMILE!
- Show interest and enthusiasm in what you are doing.
- Look at the audience. This is a “must” in keeping attention.
- Talk loud enough to be easily heard.
- Don’t talk too fast.

Tips to Combat Nervousness

- Be well prepared – making a list of needed items will help you not to forget anything
- Arrive early
- Yawn to relax your throat
- Breathe deeply, evenly, and slowly for several minutes
- Be yourself
- Remember that the audience wants you to succeed

Visual Aid Tips

- Size

Make letters big enough to be read. Consider letter width as well as height. Here are some suggested letter sizes in relation to distance.

Distance from viewer	Minimum size
3 feet	¼”
8 feet	½”
15 feet	1”

If you make posters, be sure the poster is able to stand by itself on the easel. Many times the poster board is hard to view when it is bent.

- Color

Color makes a difference, both in attractiveness and readability. Visuals in two colors are easier to read than multi-colored ones. Avoid multi-colored letters and words. Here are some suggestions for colors.

Use:	Don’t Use:
black on yellow	white on red green on white	white on orange
blue on white	white on black
black on white	red on yellow
yellow on black	green on red
white on blue	red on green

- Subject

Don’t attempt to say too much with visuals. State the main idea and support it with a limited number of points. An outline form works well.

- Lettering

Use upper case and lower case letters. Avoid using all capitals because they make the visuals harder to read. Avoid script and other fancy letters. Instead, use neat, well-spaced block letters. If making a poster, use a pencil to design your poster then fill in with magic markers, crayons, etc. Try using a straight edge to lightly rule the poster board before making letters to keep them straight.
